ABOUT US

WELCOME TO THE QUEVEDO FAMILY!

Although the Quevedo Family has been producing Port Wine for more than 5 generations, the actual company was only founded in 1993. This makes us one of the most recent Port Wine Houses from the Douro.

With 30 years of existence, we feel we are at the beginning of our journey and every day is a fresh page added to what we like to do most: explore all the ways wines can be enjoyed.

A LEGACY OF VITICULTURAL HERITAGE

The Quevedo family's lineage in viticulture traces back five generations. The first Quevedo vines were lovingly planted by Abel Gouveia Costa in 1889, in Valongo dos Azeites, S. João da Pesqueira. Abel's legacy was carried forward by his son, Raul Gouveia Costa, who expanded the family's wine business. The torch then passed to his son-in-law, João Batista Quevedo, who not only extended the vineyards to new estates but also instilled a profound love for winemaking in his son, Oscar Quevedo (Sr.).

Beatriz's family also had its roots in the Carrazeda district, contributing to the family's rich viticultural heritage. Quinta da Alegria has been handed down through generations and continues to hold a pivotal position today.

BUILDING THE QUEVEDO BRAND

By the end of the 1970s, Oscar and Beatriz Quevedo decided to start a family at S. João Pesqueira, in the heart of the Douro Valley. Both descended from families with a long history in growing grapes and making Port wines. Oscar Sr. embarked on a mission to modernize the family's winemaking facilities, eventually building the initial Quevedo winery, which is currently also undergoing expansion and remodeling.

Over the years, the family has cultivated 100 hectares of vineyards and 25 hectares of organic olive groves, nurturing the land and their legacy. It wasn't until 1993 that the Quevedo brand was officially founded, marking a new era for the family as they began bottling Port wines under their own label, thanks to Portugal's entry into the EU in 1986.

ABOUT US

ABOUT US

THE VINEYARDS

It doesn't matter how good you work the grapes at the winery unless the origin of the grapes is the best. The most important legacy that we received from our ancestors was the learning that wine is made in the vineyard. For this reason, we cultivate 100 hectares of vineyards, plus 25 hectares of organic olive groves, across five properties in the Douro valley, from the sub-regions of Cima Corgo. This diversity provides grapes of varying aromas and flavors that help us craft distinct wines and make some exciting experiences along the way.

Our ancestors' passion for viticulture and the respect for the land that surrounds us lead us every day to build a sustainable legacy for the next generations.

In 2005 our organic olive grove was planted. Vineyards followed in 2013 and every year we keep progressively increasing the organic area while we work to diminish the impact on the rest of the properties by using more sophisticated equipment that helps reduce the use of artificial elements.

QUEVEDO WINES

Displaying an impressive variety of Port wines, we make an effort to stand out with single harvest Port wines, namely, Vintage Ports and Colheita Ports. It's worth noting how proud we are at producing exceptional Aged White Ports, including 10, 30, and 50-year-old White Port wines—a rare gem in the world of Port wines and a testament to our commitment to tradition.

Quevedo, one of the youngest Port Wine Houses in the Douro, has quickly risen to prominence through a steadfast commitment to quality, family tradition, and a genuine passion for sharing our wines with friends and the world. With each bottle, we invite you to join in our celebration of life, friendship, and the timeless art of winemaking.

Cheers!

OUR WINES

From the vineyards, we bring the best grapes to produce our Wines. Every year before the Harvest, the winemaker decides which grapes are allocated to Port or Douro Wines.

RUBY PORTS

Ruby (or red) Ports are incredibly fresh wines with expressive red fruit aromas. They are usually bottled very young to preserve their young deep red color and the freshness of their aromas. They can age in wood, but if doing so, it will be for a very short period of time. No more than a few years and always in large-capacity containers to reduce the influence of oxygen on aging.

TINTA AMARELA

Discover our latest addition to the Q.Lab range – a 100% Tinta Amarela red wine with a lower alcohol content. Crafted from grapes grown on the ancient vines of the Corgo banks, this wine captures the essence of the elegant and fresh notes of the Tinta Amarela variety. Experience the fresher and refined side of Douro with this exquisite red.

In the creation of this QLAB wine, we had fun exploring the possibilities of the Tinta Amarela grape. From selecting the grapes to vinification, we macerated them for 4 days to bring out the most floral, spicy, and fresh characteristics of the variety.

The outcome is a highly aromatic and low-alcohol wine that is perfect for a nice evening with friends.

FOLGASÃO

We're excited to introduce our latest addition to the Q.Lab range, a wine made from the rare Folgasão grape variety, also known as Terrantez. Unfortunately, this grape is slowly disappearing from the Douro vineyards due to its susceptibility to powdery mildew fungus and a tendency to develop a reductive character during fermentation. However, in a bid to preserve this unique variety, our father, Oscar Quevedo, planted 2.5 hectares of Folgasão in 2016, which was the last plantation he oversaw as head of the company.

This QLAB was done with Tamás Ádám (friends call him Tomi) to create a single-varietal Folgasão wine. For this experiment we decided to do malolactic fermentation on part of the wine as well as age it for 5 months in Hungarian barrels (like Tomi!).

The result? A fresh aromatic white wine, creamy and full-bodied to share with the best company!

ORANGE WINE

Embark on a flavorful adventure with our Orange Wine, a native blend comprising Siria, Rabigato, Códrega do Larinho, and Viosinho grapes. This wine has character, not for the faint of heart, with a distinct palate that'll make you think twice. But we love the complexity—it's what keeps things interesting!

We put them through a wild fermentation, and then decided to let them hang out with their skins for an extra 10 days. After that, we stowed them away in a cozy used oak barrel, and let them be for a whopping 18 months. What emerged was a wine that's rich, perfumed, and bursting with personality. Bottled without filtration, it's a testament to the raw, unapologetic personality of the wine.

So, here's to a wine that challenges your palate, making you savor every nuance. Cheers to embracing the unexpected!

VERMOUTH

*The sensorial snapshot
of the season in the valley.*

Our good friend Ryan Opaz challenged us to bring back one of the most noble (yet forgotten) drinks of our region: The Vermouth.

This result? An exciting collection of sensorial snapshots of the Terroir that surround our vineyards at a specific time of the year: Autumn, Winter, Spring and Summer.

In each edition the characteristic smells and flavors of the season are captured into a unique Limited Edition Vermouth.

VERMOUTH

AUTUMN

The first limited edition is the snapshot of the region in Autumn with the typical smells and flavors of the season. Notes of Esteve and rich honey give way to more delicate flavors like mint, limonete or louro.

In the mouth, the wine is off-dry with a slight bitter note on the finish to clean the palate. This vermouth is the perfect drink to create a Douro based dry martini or to sip on the rocks nibbling on some local olives or salted almonds.

AUTUMN VERMOUTH

WINTER

The second limited edition captures the region's typical smells and flavours in the cold Winter.

More than 20 plants and fruits were harvested in 2021 before extracting them in wine spirit and then blended with local wine. Finally we balanced it all with a touch of locally produced honey.

The Botanical Infusion Dry Gin Collection is our own interpretation of the landscapes that surround us daily. We kept the infusions simple, aiming for quality and purity. The native juniper (zimbro) takes the lead and is surrounded by the fresh and complex aromas of verbena, mint, rosemary, and a zesty touch of orange or lemon - depending on the blends. The latest member of the collection is the Cask Matured, in which we aged the Dry Gin in old Port Oak casks!

OLIVE OIL

At Quevedo we let our olives grow naturally. We only venture into the olive tree grove three times a year: to prune, pull the weeds and harvest. The rest of the time, a multitude of sparrows, ladybirds and sheep flocks take good care of our noble trees.

To bring the best of what nature can offer, this superior category olive oil is extracted at low temperatures to preserve all the olive's aromas. It has a soft green color and it may develop sediment after several months in bottle as it was very gently filtered.
